1 Is roadside assistance right for you?

Roadside companies help stranded drivers with jump starts, tire changes, fuel delivery, lockouts and winch-outs. It suits people who like driving and stay calm next to traffic.

2 Form the business and get an Alaska business license

1. Choose a structure. LLCs and corporations register with the Alaska Division of Corporations.
2. Get an Alaska business license ($50 a year or $100 for two years). Alaska has no statewide sales tax, but many cities and boroughs levy a local sales tax.
3. Check your city or borough for local sales tax, licenses and zoning.

3 Licenses

We found no Alaska State license for roadside assistance. Check your city or county for business licenses and zoning.

4 No statewide sales tax; local taxes vary

Alaska does not levy a statewide sales tax, but many cities and boroughs levy a local sales tax with their own rates and exemptions. Ask your municipality whether you collect it on parts, labor or services.

5 Your first steps

1. Form the business and get an Alaska business license.
